County Agricultural Agent and Newton Halterman go to Lafayette With County Corn Samples

OTHERS TO FOLLOW FOR SHOW

Halterman Awarded Trip as Prize For Best Spirit of Co-Operation Toward County Show

H. D. VanMatre, county agricultural agent, and Newton Halterman of Rushville township, formed the vanguard of the Rush county representation at the Indiana agricultural conference and state corn show when they left this morning for Lafayette, and will be followed later in the week by other Rush county farmers, including a number who won prizes in the fourth annual corn show last week, and will exhibit in the state show.

The county agent took with him today samples of Argus Wagoner and his son Ira, who won first and second place in the ten-ear yellow class, and of Clarence Gosney and son Gerald, who were seventh and eighth respectively in the ten-ear yellow class. Gerald Gosney also is the junior county champion, by reason of having won the ten-ear yellow class for boys.

Mr. Halterman's expenses to the state conference and show were paid by the Rushville Rotary club, which gave the trip as a prize to the exhibitor showing the best attitude toward the show and the best spirit of co-operation.

The prize was decided upon when G. I. Christie, head of the Purdue extension department, suggested local civic organizations send one or more farm leaders to the state conference and show.

Mr. Hungerford's corn was entered under the name of J. L. Cowing, on whose farm it was raised, and won 11th place in the ten-ear yellow class for the county.

Lowell Moffett of Ripley township, Ralph Moffett of Center township and Samuel Hiner of Anderson township were expected to go to Lafayette to enter their corn in the state show. All were high prize winners at the county show. Harvey Arnold, a winner in county class for white corn, planned to send his corn if he could not go himself.

The agricultural conference is replacing the short course of former years with a broader program. It will continue six days and an attendance of two thousand persons was expected.

The session today started with an address by Mary L. Mathews, head of the Purdue home economics department. She was followed by G. I. Christie, head of the Purdue agricultural experiment station, who sounded the keynote of the week's session in an address, "The Agricultural Situation and the Need for a Definite Program."

Earl Hinton Arrested in Indianapolis and Returned Here For Trial—Trespass is Charged

FARMER CAUSES ARREST OF 2

Three arrests have been made in Justice Stech's court, one being on an alleged fraudulent check and the other two cases are charges of trespass.

Earl Hinton was arrested by Indianapolis police Saturday, upon complaint from the court here, and was brought back Sunday night by Frank Nicholson, a constable for Justice Stech. He was released on $1,000 bond, and his trial will be held Wednesday. He is charged with having issued a check for $260 without sufficient funds, and cashed by Jake Perkins, a storekeeper at New Salem.

Leonard Vail, a farmer living in the southern part of the county, has caused the arrest of Wesley York and James Hinchley, whom he alleges entered upon his premises against his wishes, and did so after having been warned to keep off. The two men also gave bond, and will be tried in a day or so. The case was set for this morning, but continued until a later date.

STOLEN FORD TRUCK IS FOUND ON MICHIGAN ROAD

Abandoned at Near Five Points Near Indianapolis, Amos Stevens, The Owner, is Notified

DRIVEN AWAY BY HIS EMPLOYEE

The Ford automobile truck belonging to Amos Stevens, a straw baler of this city, which was driven away Friday afternoon by John Matthews, an employee, was reported Sunday afternoon as having been abandoned at Five Points, on the Michigan road near Indianapolis.

A farmer living nearby noticed the machine there for a long time, and became suspicious when thieves attempted to remove the tires, and he frightened them away and took possession of the car.

He called local police, who in turn notified Mr. Stevens, and he was preparing to go after the car today.

Mr. Stevens sent Matthews to the Morton Hinchman farm north of Glenwood Friday with instructions to haul straw to this city to be loaded on a car, and after making one trip, the man disappeared with the truck, taking with him his personal belongings at his rooming house.

CITY DEFENDANT IN 2 INJUNCTION SUITS

I. & C. Traction Company and C. I. & W. Railroad Object to Morgan Street Assessments

SEEK TO STOP COLLECTION

Bertha M. Barnes Sues Charles L. Barnes for Divorce, Alleging he Threatened Her With Harm

The city of Rushville was made defendant this morning in two injunction suits filed against them, one action being by the Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Western railroad and the other by the Indianapolis and Cincinnati traction company, objecting to the assessment listed against them on the Morgan street paving.

The C. I. & W. alleges that they are assessed $315.21 for their portion of the paving, and charges that their track occupies the center of the street, and that they should not be compelled to pay to the curb line. The company asserts this should be paid by the property owners.

The traction company alleges that they are assessed a total of $350.23 for a lot, and the complaint sets out that they do not own the lot, nor possess any title to the premises as described in the assessment role.

Each complaint names the entire city administration as defendants, including Mayor Thomas, the five councilmen, city clerk and city treasurer. The action is to seek an injunction against the city officials from forcing the collection, as provided by law.

Another new suit was filed this morning in court, the action being a complaint for divorce, filed by Bertha M. Barnes against Charles L. Barnes. The complaint says they were married in August 1921 and separated in August of 1924.

The plaintiff charges the defendant with having mistreated her, striking her on several occasions, calling her vile names, and threatening to do her bodily harm. Besides asking a divorce, she also seeks to have her former name of Bertha Wilson restored.

GREATER INTEREST IN CHURCH CIRCLES

Marked Improvement Noted Sunday Following Observance of Week of Prayer Last Week

NO SPECIAL EVENTS SUNDAY

Jesus Gave World Vision of Final Judgment, E. G. McKibben Shows in Morning Sermon

Good attendance marked the services in Rushville churches Sunday, following the observance of the Week of Prayer, last week, with nightly meetings, which served to arouse greater interest in church circles.

No special events characterized any of the services, the regular program being followed at all of the churches.

The next outstanding event in local religious circles will be the celebration by the First Presbyterian church of its one hundredth birthday anniversary with appropriate exercises. The observance will begin on Thursday evening, January 22, and continue until the following Sunday. Several men notable in the church will come here to speak.

The Rev. James C. Burkhardt of Crawfordsville preached two sermons at the Main Street Christian church Sunday. This church is still without a pastor, since the Rev. L. E. Brown resigned last October, and the pulpit is being supplied each Sunday by a minister from out of the city.

The sermon delivered Sabbath morning by the Rev. E. G. McKibben at the First United Presbyterian church was based on Matt. 25:32, "And before him shall be gathered all the nations."

"Before leaving the world Jesus drew aside the veil of the future and gave to the world a vision of the final judgment," the pastor said. "He sits on the throne of judgment. The time is the last day. All men and angels are to be present, the good to receive a reward, the evil to receive a sentence of condemnation. No new evidence will be produced for all that comes before the court is in documentary form. 'They are judged from what is written in the books.' The reason for the final judgment seems to be publicity and reward."

The separation into two companies is to be on the basis of faith in God. Faith saves "apart from works of law." But the reason assigned for reward is good works—the proof of spiritual life. The reason assigned for punishment is the lack of good work—the proof of the absence of life. The distinction between the good and the bad at that time, will be as easy to discern as that between a sheep and a goat.

This assignment of the judge is final. The same word is used to describe the duration of the happiness of those saved as the one used to describe the punishment of the lost. It is "eternal." Spiritual death is separation from God. "Depart" is the word. Spiritual life is union with Christ. "Come" is the word.

In the evening the pastor preached from Second Cor. 5:20 "Be ye reconciled to God." "God is reconciled to the world through the cross of Calvary," the pastor pointed out. "And He beseeches men through his ministers to be reconciled to himself. Christ 'beseeches' men to accept of his atonement."

Samuel Artman, Chairman of State Public Service Commission, Replies to Board of Accounts

ABLE TO ACCOUNT FOR EXCESS

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 12—Charges of excessive expenditures made in an investigation of the state public service commission by the state board of accounts were stoutly denied by Samuel Artman, chairman of the commission.

The report said that administrative expenses of the commission were increased $7,000 to $8,000 a month last year.

"The administrative expenses of the commission are not increased," Artman said. "The increases noted were due to the extraordinary cost of investigating the water company and Indiana Bell Telephone company. 'All this money must be paid back to the commission by the utilities.' Artman branded as 'untrue' the statement in the report that the commission was delinquent in the collection of $37,784 in fees.

Need a Tonic?

LORRAINE A. RUHL

La Harpe, Ill.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery every spring for several years as a tonic. Three or four bottles have always proved sufficient—making me feel like new. It always relieves me of that tired, rundown feeling. And for severe colds I seldom need more than one bottle. It does away with the cough entirely."

"As a good tonic, I cannot recommend the 'Discovery' too highly. One of my occupations should take something to help drive the paint poisons from the system, and for this I can recommend the 'Discovery' to any one."—Lorraine A. Ruhl, Box 69.

months as governor and asked full cooperation of the legislature and the state departments with the new executive.

Julius C. Travis, chief justice of the state supreme court, then administered the oath of office to Jackson.

In a brief inaugural address, Governor Jackson pledged himself to discharge every duty of his office, "conscientiously, faithfully and fearlessly," and to the best of his ability.

"I trust that I am duly appreciative of the high honor conferred upon me," Governor Jackson said. "The holding of office cannot clothe the holder with honor unless the office be honored by the conscientious discharge of its duties by the holder."

"The rights of the people must be guarded with an ever zealous and watchful eye. We should stand firmly against the tendency toward too much government, and this burden should be made to rest as lightly as possible."

"We must allow nothing to insinuate itself into our government that will weaken or be detrimental to it, and the prerogatives of the executive, legislative and judicial departments must not be encroached upon by the activities of either of the other departments."

Governor Jackson declared that he would not be influenced in his actions by those who counsel for selfish motives or from class viewpoint.

Chief Justice Travis then administered the oath to Van Orman and a moment later to Mrs. White. In his inaugural address, Van Orman pledged a businesslike conduct of the affairs of the upper house of the legislature under his guidance as presiding officer.

Following the inaugural ceremonies, a public reception was held in the governor's office with Governor and Mrs. Jackson, Lieutenant Governor Van Orman and Mrs. Van Orman, Former Governor Branch and Mrs. Branch and state officials in the receiving line.

The senate was to reconvene at 2 p. m. and the house at 3 p. m. for short sessions. Governor Jackson said he probably would read his message to the legislature late today or Tuesday morning.

A special train brought 400 friends of Van Orman from Evansville for the inauguration. The Evansville delegation paraded through downtown streets before going to the state house.

A Slow Process

Farmers are being urged by the United States department of agriculture that in forming cooperative marketing organizations careful consideration be given the economic need for such organizations, and that the advice of competent cooperative marketing experts be sought. There are thousands of successful marketing organizations in the United States, but there are also numerous failures where associations have not been founded on fundamental economic principles. It is better to start right than later to be compelled to reorganize or possibly fail, the department points out.

Studies by the department of more than 10,000 cooperative organizations now in existence, and which comprise approximately 70 percent of all such associations in the United States, emphasize the fact that success in cooperative marketing cannot be won overnight. These organizations, some of which have been in existence more than twenty years, have at times been put to severe tests, but through loyal membership, singleness of purpose, and business-like management have weathered the recurring storms of economic conditions.

The history of agricultural cooperation in the United States runs back to the Civil War. The first cheese factory was established in 1863, and the first organization of fruit and vegetable growers in 1878. Two organizations of grain growers were formed in 1887, followed by an organization of livestock raisers. The movement developed slowly and over a long period of years while these and other pioneers were putting their theories into actual practice.

ting their theories into actual practice. Other associations were established and the principles of sound cooperative method were demonstrated until in 1900 there were several thousand farmers organizations in existence.

Uniform Road Signs

Many attempts have been made to unify the existing system of road signs throughout the United States, without any degree of success.

Such a commendable movement should be given wider support than it has ever received, for obvious reasons.

In almost every state of the union, different types of warnings for intersection roads, railroad crossings, curves and dangerous places are displayed.

A plan whereby all signs would be standardized, so that a railroad crossing in the east would be marked the same as one in the west, would be of immense advantage to automobile drivers and might be the means of saving lives.

Those who are charged with authority to mark roads should also follow a uniform system to be of greatest service to motorists.

For example, if one side road on a highway is marked, every other side road should be similarly marked. Too often one marking leads the driver to believe that all intersecting roads are marked, and he never slackens his speed until he sees one.

The danger of collision are great, when an automobilist depends upon the markings which are not there. Of course, the driver should be expected to use some judgment, but lack of uniformity in marking roads is misleading and dangerous.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The war isn't over, in Washington. In fact, it hasn't even begun.

If you don't believe it, go into the public schools of the capital and study the text books that are being used in the "education" of the city's youth.

Study particularly their histories and their geographies—for it was history and geography the late war was supposed to have changed.

There you will find that "The German Empire consists of 22 separate states" of which Prussia is the largest. That "The king of Prussia is also the emperor or kaiser of Germany." That "the laws are made by an imperial parliament," and so on.

Or, if your interests take you outside the status of Germany since the war, you may read that "Austria Hungary is a monarchy," that "the emperor or czar is absolute monarch of Russia."

In the geographies of the capital schools, vintage of 1914, St. Petersburg is still the capital of Russia, there is no Poland or Czechoslovakia, and the national boundaries shown on the school wall-maps are the same as before the educational Rip Van Winkles controlling the Washington schools went to sleep.

PROBABLY there is no other city or state where such a condition exists, or would long be permitted to exist, except in Washington, District of Columbia.

It wouldn't exist long here if either Washington, or the District, had the say-so.

Washington, as a city, is merely a geographical fiction itself, its boundaries being co-extensive with those of the District.

And the District is merely a step-child of the federal government, with a paternal Congress holding the purse-strings and doling out nickels and dimes for its education, while lavishing hundreds of millions on "development" projects elsewhere where the people have votes.

The residents of Washington not only have no vote for president, they have no voice in saying what shall be spent on their schools.

That lies in the decisions of the budget bureau of the national government and the Congress.

The District can't even tax itself to buy the books that will teach its children facts instead of antiquated history. Congress says how much taxes the capital shall raise, too.

AND meantime Congress la-ments its lack of time properly to study and digest important and fundamental national legislation.

One simple solution would seem to be to give Washington, or, properly, the District of Columbia, a reasonable measure of local self-government.

Certainly that would be less unreasonable than teaching the generation of 1925 the now obsolete history of 1915.

Cities, like children, outgrow adolescent foolishness. Washington is now old enough to be given a little responsibility of its own.

And a little freedom from leading strings.

MANY Americans have the erroneous idea that the monocle is a distinctive British affectation. Perhaps that is due to the caricaturists, who love to draw "typical" Brits with a lone lense glued in one eye.

Fact is, however, that the single eyeglass is a part of the wardrobe of the properly dressed gent in many of the mid-European countries.

And the most expert of the monocle men in Washington is Charge D'Affaire Naro of the Rumanian legation.

Naro disdains the usual cord or ribbon, by which the less adept attach their eyeglass to their person. His seems actually to have grown in place. One wonders if he sleeps with it.

ARLINGTON TAKES THE INVITATIONAL

Literally "Steps on the Gas" in Final Game With Moscow And is Victorious by Narrow Margin

READLE SCORES 9 FROM FIELD

Moscow Puts up Scrappy Fight the Last Half, Overcoming 10 Point Margin to no Avail

Arlington high school, playing steady and improving throughout the day, "stepped on the gas" in the final game of the invitational tourney held Saturday at Carthage and defeated Moscow in a thrilling and great climax, 33 to 31.

Readle of Arlington started the scoring with two foul goals and followed with a field goal. Moscow scored a field goal, and then Price and Woods for Arlington scored a field goal, that gave Arlington a lead 8 to 2, and they maintained the lead, holding the score at 19 to 13 at the end of the first half.

In the second half Arlington soon had a ten point margin 23 to 13, and the Moscow began a march that brought them up 23 to 22, and great dribbling by Coers, Moscow's floor guard, and a long accurate shot, put Moscow in front 24 to 23. Coers then threw in a foul that made it 25 to 23. Whisman for Moscow was playing a fine game at backguard.

With Price, center for Arlington, bringing the ball down to the firing line and passing it to Readle, the latter brought the crowd to its feet, with three straight ringing long shots putting the count 29 to 25, with Arlington leading.

With two minutes left, the teams swung like a pendulum over the floor with Moscow then having a two point lead 31 to 29, but Readle tied the count under the basket.

Moscow missed a chance on an easy shot, and just twelve seconds before the game ended, which looked like another overtime game, Price for Arlington shot the ball to Readle again, who took one of those long range shots from near the center, and the ball went in for the winning two points, and the gun sounded before the ball could be taken back to center.

Readle had scored 9 field goals. The line-up and summary:

Arlington 33 Moscow 31

Several good games featured the all day tourney, and two upsets in the earlier play proved the downfall of two strong teams. When Raleigh tripped Carthage in the second game of the morning, it eliminated one strong team and then Arlington proved the big stumbling block for Milroy, in the semi-finals in the afternoon.

When Notre Dame Trowned Stanford

Notre Dame's famed gridders became the undisputed champions of the world when they romped over Leland Stanford University New Year Day at Pasadena, Calif., 27-10. Here Layden is seen starting on his sensational 69-yard run for the second touchdown of the day. Ernie Nevers, fullback for the Cardinals, tried a pass from the 21-yard line. But Crowley, Irish halfback, knocked it out of his arms into the reach of Layden, who grabbed it and started his dash down the field. Crowley, after blocking the pass, proceeded to spill two Stanford men. He can be seen on the ground, his feet toward the camera.

Webb, Kirk and Pate. Field goals, Price 4, Woods 3, Readle N. Morgan, Kirk, Pate. Foul goals, Bundy, Stanley, Geise, Myers. First half, Arlington 14; Webb 2. Referee Williams.

GIRLS IN CURTAIN RAISER

In the curtain raiser Saturday at the Carthage tourney, the Carthage girls defeated the New Salem girls by the score of 29 to 15.

With Yankees

Charging Bull, better known as John Levi, famous athlete of Haskell School for Indians, has signed a contract to play with the New York Americans. Levi gained his greatest fame on the gridiron.

Alexandria—The claim of Lee R. Jones for the egg record is contested by E. L. Kilgore who claims 2184 eggs from twelve hens during the year.

BLUE STREAKS WIN CUP

The team on the honor roll today in Rush county is Jimmie Hyatt's Arlington Blue Streaks. All dolled up in fine blue suits, they went clear through that Carthage tourney Saturday, like a blue streak, knocking off Webb first, then upset the done bucket by taking Milroy, and continued to upset the bucket, by putting an end to the long winning spell boasted so highly by Moscow.

A fine silver mug was the trophy for Arlington, but they didn't care so much about it, as they did to defeat Milroy and Moscow.

Arlington has great hopes. The team is composed of Sophomores. Next year and then the next, they will make someone step high, wide and fancy in this section of the state.

Hittin' 'em saw some of those games at Carthage. In both games that Arlington came to the front, when they played Milroy in an overtime period and won 26 to 21 and then took Moscow in the final game by two points, 33 to 31, a person couldn't rush to see any finer basketball. Rush county fans will have another opportunity to see these teams play again January 30 and 31 in the big tourney to be here.

Probably the biggest disappointment at the tourney, was the Blue Birds of Carthage, but of course it wouldn't be nice to win on your own floor, so they surrendered early to the Sir Walters of Raleigh.

There was a big crowd on hand, and good sportsmanship prevailed at all times. The tourney was a success in every detail.

ALL TOURNEY TEAM

Hittin' 'em made a selection of an all tourney team, picked from the actual performance of the player at the tourney:
Thompson, Moscow, forward
Readle, Arlington, forward
Kinnett, Milroy, forward
Alexander, Moscow, center
Newkirk, Raleigh center
Tetrick, Carthage, guard
Readmond, Milroy, guard
Bundy, Arlington, guard.

So much for the tourney. You should have been there.

The Bull dogs of Columbus sure have a big hunkering after one point victories. They defeated Shelbyville Friday by one point, and on Saturday did the same thing against Evansville. They also have lost several games by one point, one in particular that we recall.

Rushville seems to like overtime games. Three of 'em so far this season, and two of 'em proved fatal.

Columbus and Rushville ought to make some resolutions to get those ideas out of their minds.

HOW ABOUT IT, GREENSBURG

All county seat teams in the tourney at Connersville will miss Shelbyville, because they all had hopes of beating them.

THEY ALL NEEDED ONE

Dear Hittin' 'em:
I'll bet the boy whose Dad whips him after each game, if he doesn't play good—got one sound spanking Friday night. MARIE

Markin' 'em of Newcastle fuddled the Trojans on his tip-toes Saturday night, and we don't blame him much. They trimmed Richmond 24 to 21, and no telling what the score would have been if Rozelle wasn't sick.

Let's see, wasn't it Richmond that defeated the Lions Friday night? Sure, it was, and it looks like those Trojans have about 5 points the best of the argument. Anyway we will see for sure when the tourney is held at Connersville.

A team that is to be watched is Shortridge. Nine straight victories. They took Muncie Friday night, and then engaged in an all day tourney over at Brownsburg Saturday, and won it. They defeated Brownsburg 9 points, while the best Rushville could do against them was 5 points. So Shortridge is to be looked after.

WE'RE WAITIN' FOR THE BONES

Basketbawls of Washington says: Then Hittin' 'em reproduces a 'bawl' we used the other day which said that we did not understand how Rushville could maintain a Lyons Meat Market and still have a good team called the Lions. He says, he thinks he deserves a good steak from the market for giving them the advertising, adding that he usually gets a roast. After reading the cold references above, we wired the Lyons market as follows: "Please present 'Hittin' 'em' with two pounds of spare ribs and see that they're well sandpapered. Send us the bill."

Washington trounced Ritz of Evansville at Evansville Friday night 65 to 22, and on Saturday night the Evansville team downed Mt. Vernon 48 to 23. The Hatchets from Washington look powerful strong, and they have the same team next year.

Shelbyville also will enter the football business next fall, and the basketball season will not begin until later. In speaking of the grid game, Short Passes of that city says:

Rushville is one of the high schools planning to put a football team in the field next season, and as a result they do not plan to play basketball until December first or later. Do you remember in the dim past when Shelbyville and Rushville high school football teams clashed? There was no lacking for excitement and action in those days.

One thing about football, no team can have alibis for small floors, low ceilings and the like.

With the announcement that scores will be broadcasted each Friday night from Kansas City, Basketbawls of Washington says:

"We hope Passaic tunes in on Kansas City Friday night and listens to the scores for a time, just like for Mr. Blood's boys to get better acquainted with Indiana teams, you know."

And then he adds further that if Washington doesn't win a game, he hopes static will prevail. Reports from Rushville radio fans is that static is a daily thing here, and even Sunday sermons can't be heard.

Don't forget that Hagerstown plays them Friday night. While one of the "weak sisters" on our schedule, they shouldn't be fooled with.

Takes Over Yankee Stadium

By FRANK GETTY
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
New York, Jan. 12—Tex Rickard is going to promote boxing at the Yankee Stadium this summer and the big attraction will be Jack Dempsey defending his title against Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, who stood up to the heavyweight champion for 15 rounds at Shelby a couple of years ago.

Rickard, unquestionably the leading promoter the boxing game has known, has been negotiating with Colonel Ruppert, owner of the New York American League club and stadium, and will succeed Jimmy Johnston as matchmaker at the desired location.

The Yankee Stadium is the best in Manhattan for outdoor bouts, and when the season rolls around its mammoth capacities will combine with Rickard's genius for the benefit of followers of fistiana.

Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns his manager, both have expressed a willingness to give Gibbons a return match. They contend that the champion was not in condition when he fought Tommy at Shelby, and that another match will demonstrate conclusively that Dempsey is master of the St. Paul wizard.

Another match which Rickard will promote during the coming outdoor season, provided he can make Dempsey and Kearns live up to promises they finally have made him, is one between the champion and Harry Wills. The bout, which Tex is confident of being able to bring about, would be staged over in Jersey City.

Dempsey always says he is anxious to meet Wills, and then Kearns pops up with some good reason why various proposition for such a match are unsatisfactory. This time it seems as though the prospects are good for the bout being held. "Boyle's Thirty Acres" should hold its capacity crowd when Jack and Harry clamber through the ropes.

As a matter of fact, Dempsey, unless his Kleig eyes, fancy new nose and writer's cramp have permanently disabled him, should have little trouble with "Mistah" Wills. The black looked foolish against Bartley Madden. Of course, Madden makes a lot of them look that way, but a good man, Jack Renault, for instance, was able to stop him. Wills couldn't. Harry won a decision from Luis Angel Firpo, but the Argentine cheese had gone decidedly moldy by that time, as evidenced by the lacing he took from Charley Weinert a short time afterwards.

The Dempsey-Gibbons bout should be a good one, with odds on the champion. The Dempsey that beat Firpo one summer's night in 1923 would annihilate Gibbons. Whether that Dempsey can be resuscitated from the morass of the movies is a question. Gibbons showed well against Kid Norfolk recently, albeit the "Kid" isn't such a tough customer for a really good big man.

On the fistie horizon at the moment there is but one other whom Dempsey has expressed a desire to meet, and this figure at present has its back to the ring and its eyes on the lives of fair and gallant ladies in sunny France. Luis Firpo, of course, is out badly whooping and press agency to work him back into a position of challenger for the heavyweight title.

There was some smoke, but very little fire, about Jack Renault, but it is not probable that he will meet Dempsey this year.

The Gibbons bout looks to be the best bet. Dempsey fights are more dependent on locations than opponents, anyhow, which is why the news that Rickard has succeeded in getting a line on the Yankee Stadium for 1925 is much more important than any announcement concerning possible matches.

Out of the test tubes of du Pont chemists has come Duco, a radically new and vastly improved automobile finish.

Duco Finish gets a new standard of beauty and durability. It is waterproof, weatherproof, unapproached by a firm adhesion, and a soft lustre that actually improves with age!

With Duco Finish on your car, you can leave it out in any kind of weather. Rain, snow or shine cannot affect it. You can drive for weeks through mud and slush and then wipe the dirt off with a dry cloth. Rubbing will actually polish the finish, without scratch or mar, provided no coarse grit or gravel adheres.

Duco Finish saves refinishing time. It can be applied in less than half the time formerly required.

Come and see Duco jobs we have turned out, and talk to some of the owners we have served. Let us estimate on refinishing your car, with your choice of a large number of beautiful non-fading colors.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 2—"We now have an eighth grade citizenship as a result of the 1921 attendance law in Indiana during the past three years," said Dr. Henry intendent of Public Instruction in reviewing the annual report made by Miss Blanche Merry, State Attendance Officer.

Heretofore the children of Indiana have stopped school on average at the conclusion of the fourth

Not So Good After All

grade, figures show. "This clearly indicates that our citizenship standard has been raised from the fourth to the eighth grade," Dr.
Sherwood says.

"Statistics for the past five years show that there has been a steady increase in the percentage of school enrollment until in 1923-24, 98.4 per cent of all the children in Indiana were enrolled in our schools and along with this increase in enrollment there has been a noticed reduction in the amount of irregular attendance of those enrolled," the State Superintendent said.

Other results of the 1921 attendance law as outlined by Dr. Sherwood in an interview were: a better class of local attendance officers of the state; a more accurate checking on all the children of the state has been made; truancy in rural districts is passing away; the school officials are engaged in a reorganization of the systems to meet the needs of all the children; and Indiana is being freed from illiteracy.

Dr. Sherwood is opposed to the consolidation of the attendance department with the probation department because, he says "Attendance is fundamentally a part of school organization and deals with the legitimate right of every child to have educational training. Probation is specifically concerned with crime and criminals. Children are not criminals and should not be allied with the agency of the courts such as the probation officer."

"The work of Miss Merry during the past year deserves much commendation. Few persons realize the problems she has faced in enforcing the attendance law but in spite of these perplexing situations, she has succeeded in securing an almost one hundred percent school attendance," the State Superintendent said. He also praised the local attendance officers of the state for the splendid cooperation given the state office.

Bebe Daniels at Princess
Her millions brought fine clothes, travel, adventure, excitement, but they played a sorry trick on love.

Thus Bebe Daniels finds herself as Adele Clark in her new Paramount picture, "Dangerous Money," coming to the Princess theatre here today to remain two days, with everything that is, except love, for Tim Sullivan is only a hard working contracting engineer and—well, remember—how you used to say to yourself, "Gee, but I wish someone would only leave me a million dollars, then I'd be the happiest person going!" But you wouldn't. Anyway, Bebe Daniels wasn't and a trip down to the Princess will show you why—when the old bankroll comes in the front door love goes out the back.

"Dangerous Money" is Bebe Daniels' first Paramount starring production. Tom Moore, as Tim Sullivan, has the leading man's role opposite the star. William Powell is the scheming Prince Arnolfo da Percia who weds the beautiful Bebe through trickery. Mary Foy is Bebe's aunt, keeper of a boarding house where Adele (Bebe), before she falls into the million that is, toils daily in the kitchen. Dolores Cassinelli, Charles (Slattery), Peter
Lang and Edward O'Connor com-

Frank Tuttle directed the picture which was adapted to the screen by

VANMATRE LEADS PURDUE VANGUARD

County Agricultural Agent and Newton Halterman go to Lafayette With County Corn Samples

OTHERS TO FOLLOW FOR SHOW

Halterman Awarded Trip as Prize For Best Spirit of Co-Operation Toward County Show

H. D. VanMatre, county agricultural agent, and Newton Halterman of Rushville township, formed the vanguard of the Rush county representation at the Indiana agricultural conference and state corn show when they left this morning for Lafayette, and will be followed later in the week by other Rush county farmers, including a number who won prizes in the fourth annual corn show last week, and will exhibit in the state show.

The county agent took with him today samples of Argus Wagoner and his son Ira, who won first and second place in the ten-ear yellow class, and of Clarence Gosney and son Gerald, who were seventh and eighth respectively in the ten-ear yellow class. Gerald Gosney also is the junior county champion, by reason of having won the ten-ear yellow class for boys.

Mr. Halterman's expenses to the state conference and show were paid by the Rushville Rotary club, which gave the trip as a prize to the exhibitor showing the best attitude toward the show and the best spirit of co-operation.

The prize was decided upon when G. I. Christie, head of the Purdue extension department, suggested local civic organizations send one or more farm leaders to the state conference and show.

Mr. Hangerford's corn was entered under the name of J. L. Cowing, on whose farm it was raised, and won 11th place in the ten-ear yellow class for the county.

Lowell Moffett of Ripley township, Ralph Moffett of Center township and Samuel Hiner of Anderson township were expected to go to Lafayette to enter their corn in the state show. All were high prize winners at the county show. Harvey Arnold, a winner in county class for white corn, planned to send his corn if he could not go himself.

The agricultural conference is replacing the short course of former years with a broader program. It will continue six days and an attendance of two thousand persons was expected.

The session today started with an address by Mary L. Mathews, head of the Purdue home economics department. She was followed by G. I. Christie, head of the Purdue agricultural experiment station, who sounded the keynote of the week's session in an address, "The Agricultural Situation and the Need for a Definite Program."

ISSUES $260 CHECK WITH NO FUNDS. IT IS CHARGED

Earl Hinton Arrested in Indianapolis and Returned Here For Trial—Trespass is Charged

FARMER CAUSES ARREST OF 2

Three arrests have been made in Justice Stech's court, one being on an alleged fraudulent check and the other two on charges of trespass.

Earl Hinton was arrested by Indianapolis police Saturday, upon complaint from the court here, and was brought back Sunday night by Frank Nicholson, a constable for Justice Stech. He was released on $1,000 bond, and his trial will be held Wednesday. He is charged with having issued a check for $260 without sufficient funds, and cashed by Jake Perkins, a storekeeper at New Salem.

Leonard Vail, a farmer living in the southern part of the county, has caused the arrest of Wesley York and James Hinchley, whom he alleges entered upon his premises against his wishes, and did so after having been warned to keep off. The two men also gave bond, and will be tried in a day or so. The case was set for this morning, but continued until a later date.

STOLEN FORD TRUCK IS FOUND ON MICHIGAN ROAD

Abandoned at Near Five Points Near Indianapolis, Amos Stevens, The Owner, is Notified

DRIVEN AWAY BY HIS EMPLOYEE

The Ford automobile truck belonging to Amos Stevens, a straw baler of this city, which was driven away Friday afternoon by John Matthews, an employee, was reported Sunday afternoon as having been abandoned at Five Points, on the Michigan road near Indianapolis.

A farmer living nearby noticed the machine there for a long time, and became suspicious when thieves attempted to remove the tires, and he frightened them away and took possession of the car.

He called local police, who in turn notified Mr. Stevens, and he was preparing to go after the car today.

Mr. Stevens sent Matthews to the Morton Hinchman farm north of Glenwood Friday with instructions to haul straw to this city to be loaded on a car, and after making one trip, the man disappeared with the truck, taking with him his personal belongings at his rooming house.

CITY DEFENDANT IN 2 INJUNCTION SUITS

I. & C. Traction Company and C. I. & W. Railroad Object to Morgan Street Assessments

SEEK TO STOP COLLECTION

Bertha M. Barnes Sues Charles L. Barnes for Divorce, Alleging he Threatened Her With Harm

The city of Rushville was made defendant this morning in two injunction suits filed against them, one action being by the Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Western railroad and the other by the Indianapolis and Cincinnati traction company, objecting to the assessment listed against them on the Morgan street paving.

The C. I. & W. alleges that they are assessed $315.21 for their portion of the paving, and charges that their track occupies the center of the street, and that they should not be compelled to pay to the curb line. The company asserts this should be paid by the property owners.

The traction company alleges that they are assessed a total of $350.23 for a lot, and the complaint sets out that they do not own the lot, nor possess any title to the premises as described in the assessment role.

Each complaint names the entire city administration as defendants, including Mayor Thomas, the five councilmen, city clerk and city treasurer. The action is to seek an injunction against the city officials from forcing the collection, as provided by law.

Another new suit was filed this morning in court, the action being a complaint for divorce, filed by Bertha M. Barnes against Charles L. Barnes. The complaint says they were married in August 1921 and separated in August of 1924.

The plaintiff charges the defendant with having mistreated her, striking her on several occasions, calling her vile names, and threatening to do her bodily harm. Besides asking a divorce, she also seeks to have her former name of Bertha Wilson restored.

GREATER INTEREST IN CHURCH CIRCLES

Marked Improvement Noted Sunday Following Observance of Week of Prayer Last Week

NO SPECIAL EVENTS SUNDAY

Jesus Gave World Vision of Final Judgment, E. G. McKibben Shows in Morning Sermon

Good attendance marked the services in Rushville churches Sunday, following the observance of the Week of Prayer, last week, with nightly meetings, which served to arouse greater interest in church circles.

No special events characterized any of the services, the regular program being followed at all of the churches.

The next outstanding event in local religious circles will be the celebration by the First Presbyterian church of its one hundredth birthday anniversary with appropriate exercises. The observance will begin on Thursday evening, January 22, and continue until the following Sunday. Several men notable in the church will come here to speak.

The Rev. James C. Brinkhardt of Crawfordsville preached two sermons at the Main Street Christian church Sunday. This church is still without a pastor, since the Rev. L. E. Brown resigned last October, and the pulpit is being supplied each Sunday by a minister from out of the city.

The sermon delivered Sabbath morning by the Rev. E. G. McKibben at the First United Presbyterian church was based on Matt. 25:32, "And before him shall be gathered all the nations."

"Before leaving the world Jesus drew aside the veil of the future and gave to the world a vision of the final judgment," the pastor said. "He sits on the throne of judgment. The time is the last day. All men and angels are to be present, the good to receive a reward, the evil to receive a sentence of condemnation. No new evidence will be produced for all that comes before the court is in documentary form. They are judged from what is written in the books. The reason for the final judgment seems to be publicity and reward."

The separation into two companies is to be on the basis of faith in God. Faith saves apart from works of law. But the reason assigned for reward is good works—the proof of spiritual life. The reason assigned for punishment is the lack of good work—the proof of the absence of life. The distinction between the good and the bad at that time, will be as easy to discern as that between a sheep and a goat.

This assignment of the judge is final. The same word is used to describe the duration of the happiness of those saved as the one used to describe the punishment of the lost. It is eternal. Spiritual death is separation from God. Depart is the word. Spiritual life is union with Christ. Come is the word.

In the evening the pastor preached from Second Cor. 5:20 "Be ye reconciled to God." "God is reconciled to the world through the cross of Calvary," the pastor pointed out. "And He beseeches men through his ministers to be reconciled to himself. Christ 'beseeches' men to accept of his atonement."

DENIES CHARGES OF EXCESSIVE EXPENSES

Samuel Artman, Chairman of State Public Service Commission, Replies to Board of Accounts

ABLE TO ACCOUNT FOR EXCESS

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 12—Charges of excessive expenditures made in an investigation of the state public service commission by the state board of accounts were stoutly denied by Samuel Artman, chairman of the commission.

The report said that administrative expenses of the commission were increased $7,000 to $9,000 a month last year.

"The administrative expenses of the commission are not increased," Artman said. "The increases noted were due to the extraordinary cost of investigating the water company and Indiana Bell Telephone company."

"All this money must be paid back to the commission by the utilities," Artman branded as "untrue" the statement in the report that the commission was delinquent in the collection of $37,784 in fees.

months as governor and asked full cooperation of the legislature and the state departments with the new executive.

Julius C. Travis, chief justice of the state supreme court, then administered the oath of office to Jackson.

In a brief inaugural address, Governor Jackson pledged himself to discharge every duty of his office, "conscientiously, faithfully and fearlessly," and to the best of his ability.

"I trust that I am duly appreciative of the high honor conferred upon me," Governor Jackson said. "The holding of office cannot clothe the holder with honor unless the office be honored by the conscientious discharge of its duties by the holder."

"The rights of the people must be guarded with an ever zealous and watchful eye. We should stand firmly against the tendency toward too much government, and this burden should be made to rest as lightly as possible."

"We must allow nothing to insinuate itself into our government that will weaken or be detrimental to it, and the prerogatives of the executive, legislative and judicial departments must not be encroached upon by the activities of either of the other departments."

Governor Jackson declared that he would not be influenced in his actions by those who counsel for selfish motives or from class viewpoint.

Chief Justice Travis then administered the oath to Van Orman, and a moment later to Mrs. White. In his inaugural address, Van Orman pledged a businesslike conduct of the affairs of the upper house of the legislature under his guidance as presiding officer.

Following the inaugural ceremonies, a public reception was held in the governor's office with Governor and Mrs. Jackson, Lieutenant Governor Van Orman and Mrs. Van Orman, Former Governor Branch and Mrs. Branch and state officials in the receiving line.

The senate was to reconvene at 2 p. m. and the house at 3 p. m. for short sessions. Governor Jackson said he probably would read his message to the legislature late today or Tuesday morning.

A special train brought 400 friends of Van Orman from Evansville for the inauguration. The Evansville delegation paraded through downtown streets before going to the state house.

Another special train brought the Purdue Band and a delegation of Lafayette citizens. Regular trains and interurbans poured in large crowds of inaugural visitors.

A dinner at the Indianapolis Athletic club tonight for Governor Jackson and other state officials was to conclude the day's program.

Only one more state officer elected November is still to take office, Benjamin Urbahn of Valparaiso will succeed Ora Davis of Kokomo as state treasurer next month.

But one Democrat, Zach Dungan, clerk of the supreme and appellate courts, remains in the statehouse.

A Slow Process

Farmers are being urged by the United States department of agriculture that in forming cooperative marketing organizations careful consideration be given the economic need for such organizations, and that the advice of competent cooperative marketing experts be sought. There are thousands of successful marketing organizations in the United States, but there are also numerous failures where associations have not been founded on fundamental economic principles. It is better to start right than later to be compelled to reorganize or possibly fail, the department points out.

Studies by the department of more than 10,000 cooperative organizations now in existence, and which comprise approximately 70 percent of all such associations in the United States, emphasize the fact that success in cooperative marketing cannot be won overnight. These organizations, some of which have been in existence more than twenty years, have at times been put to severe tests, but through loyal membership, singleness of purpose, and business-like management have weathered the recurring storms of economic conditions.

The history of agricultural cooperation in the United States runs back to the Civil War. The first cheese factory was established in 1863, and the first organization of fruit and vegetable growers in 1878. Two organizations of grain growers were formed in 1887, followed by an organization of livestock raisers. The movement developed slowly and over a long period of years while these and other pioneers were putting their theories into actual practice. Other associations were established and the principles of sound cooperative method were demonstrated until in 1900 there were several thousand farmers organizations in existence.

Uniform Road Signs

Many attempts have been made to unify the existing system of road signs throughout the United States, without any degree of success.

Such a commendable movement should be given wider support than it has ever received, for obvious reasons.

In almost every state of the union, different types of warnings for intersection, roads, railroad crossings, curves and dangerous places are displayed.

A plan whereby all signs would be standardized, so that a railroad crossing in the east would be marked the same as one in the west, would be of immense advantage to automobile drivers and might be the means of saving lives.

Those who are charged with authority to mark roads should also follow a uniform system to be of greatest service to motorists.

For example, if one side road on a highway is marked, every other side road should be similarly marked. Too often one marking leads the driver to believe that all intersecting roads are marked, and he never slackens his speed until he sees one.

The danger of collision are great, when an automobilist depends upon the markings which are not there. Of course, the driver should be expected to use some judgment, but lack of uniformity in marking roads is misleading and dangerous.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The war isn't over, in Washington. In fact, it hasn't even begun.

If you don't believe it, go into the public schools of the capital and study the text books that are being used in the "education" of the city's youth.

Study particularly their histories and their geographies—for it was history and geography the late war was supposed to have changed.

There you will find that "The German Empire consists of 22 separate states" of which Prussia is the largest. That "The king of Prussia is also the emperor or Kaiser of Germany." That "the laws are made by an imperial parliament," and so on.

Or, if your interests take you outside the status of Germany since the war, you may read that "Austria Hungary is a monarchy," that "the emperor or czar is absolute monarch of Russia."

In the geographies of the capital schools, vintage of 1914, St. Petersburg is still the capital of Russia, there is no Poland or Czechoslovakia, and the national boundaries shown on the school wall-maps are the same as before the educational Rip Van Winkles controlling the Washington schools went to sleep.

PROBABLY there is no other city or state where such a condition exists, or would long be permitted to exist, except in Washington, District of Columbia.

It wouldn't exist long here if either Washington, or the District, had the say-so.

Washington, as a city, is merely a geographical fiction itself, its boundaries being co-extensive with those of the District.

And the District is merely a stepchild of the federal government, with a paternal Congress holding the purse-strings and doling out nickels and dimes for its education, while lavishing hundreds of millions on "development" projects

elsewhere where the people have votes.

The residents of Washington not only have no vote for president, they have no voice in saying what shall be spent on their schools.

That lies in the decisions of the budget bureau of the national government and the Congress.

The District can't even tax itself to buy the books that will teach its children facts instead of antiquated history. Congress says how much taxes the capital shall raise, too.

AND meantime Congress laments its lack of time properly to study and digest important and fundamental national legislation.

One simple solution would seem to be to give Washington, or, properly, the District of Columbia, a reasonable measure of local self-government.

Certainly that would be less unreasonable than teaching the generation of 1925 the now obsolete history of 1915.

Cities, like children, outgrow adolescent foolishness. Washington is now old enough to be given a little responsibility of its own.

And a little freedom from leading strings.

MANY Americans have the erroneous idea that the monocle is a distinctive British affectation. Perhaps that is due to the caricaturists, who love to draw "typical" Britishers with a lone lense glued in one eye.

Fact is, however, that the single eyeglass is a part of the wardrobe of the properly dressed gent in many of the mid-European countries.

And the most expert of the monocle men in Washington is Charge D'Affaire Nana of the Rumanian legation.

Nana disdains the usual cord or ribbon, by which the less adept attach their eyeglass to their person. His seems actually to have grown in place. One wonders if he sleeps with it.

ARLINGTON TAKES THE INVITATIONAL

Literally "Steps on the Gas" in Final Game With Moscow And Is Victorious by Narrow Margin

READLE SCORES 9 FROM FIELD

Moscow Puts up Scrappy Fight the Last Half, Overcoming 10 Point Margin to no Avail

Arlington high school, playing steady and improving throughout the day, "stepped on the gas" in the final game of the invitational tourney held Saturday at Carthage and defeated Moscow in a thrilling and great climax, 33 to 31.

Readle of Arlington started the scoring with two foul goals and followed with a field goal. Moscow scored a field goal, and then Price and Woods for Arlington scored a field goal, that gave Arlington a lead 8 to 2, and they maintained the lead, holding the score at 19 to 13 at the end of the first half.

In the second half Arlington soon had a ten point margin 23 to 13, and the Moscow began a march that brought them up 23 to 22, and great dribbling by Coers, Moscow's floor guard, and a long accurate shot, put Moscow in front 24 to 23. Coers then threw in a foul that made it 25 to 23. Whisman for Moscow was playing a fine game at backguard.

With Price, center for Arlington, bringing the ball down to the firing line and passing it to Readle, the latter brought the crowd to its feet, with three straight ringing long shots putting the count 29 to 25, with Arlington leading.

With two minutes left, the teams swung like a pendulum over the floor with Moscow then having a two point lead 31 to 29, but Readle tied the count under the basket.

Moscow missed a chance on an easy shot, and just twelve seconds before the game ended, which looked like another overtime game, Price for Arlington shot the ball to Readle again, who took one of those long range shots from near the center, and the ball went in for the winning two points, and the gun sounded before the ball could be taken back to center.

Readle had scored 9 field goals. The line-up and summary:

Arlington 33	Moscow 31
Readle	F Thompson
Woods	F Creed
Price	C Alexander
Bundy	G Coers
Stanley	G Whisman

Substitutions, Arlington, Kennedy; Moscow, Headlee. Field goals Readle 9, Price 3, Woods, Kennedy, Alexander 5, Creed 4, Coers 2, Thompson, Headlee. Foul goals, Readle 4, Bundy, Creed 3, Coers 2. Referee Paul Williams, Muncie; umpire, Ted Parker, Fairmont.

Several good games featured the all day tourney, and two upsets in the earlier play proved the downfall of two strong teams. When Notre Dame Trowned Stanford

Notre Dame's famed gridders became the undisputed champions of the world when they romped over Leland Stanford University New Year Day at Pasadena, Calif., 27-10. Here Layden is seen starting on his sensational 60-yard run for the second touchdown of the day. Ernie Nevers, fullback for the Cardinals, tried a pass from the 21-yard line. But Crowley, Irish halfback, knocked it out of his arms into the reach of Layden, who grabbed it and started his dash down the field. Crowley, after blocking the pass, proceeded to spill two Stanford men. He can be seen on the ground, his feet toward the camera.

GIRLS IN CURTAIN RAISER

In the curtain raiser Saturday at the Carthage tourney, the Carthage girls defeated the New Salem girls by the score of 29 to 15.

With Yankees

Charging Bull, better known as John Levi, famous athlete of Haskell School for Indians, has signed a contract to play with the New York Americans. Levi gained his greatest fame on the gridiron.

Alexandria—The claim of Lee R. Jones for the egg record is contested by E. L. Kilgore who claims 2184 eggs from twelve hens during the year.

BLUE STREAKS WIN CUP

The team on the honor roll today in Rush county is Jimmie Hyatt's Arlington Blue Streaks. All dolled up in fine blue suits, they went clear through that Carthage tourney Saturday, like a blue streak, knocking off Webb first, then upset the dope bucket by taking Milroy, and continued to upset the bucket, by putting an end to the long winning spell boasted so highly by Moscow.

A fine silver mug was the trophy for Arlington, but they didn't care so much about it, as they did to defeat Milroy and Moscow.

Arlington has great hopes. The team is composed of Sophomores. Next year and then the next, they will make someone step high, wide and fancy in this section of the state. Hittin' 'em saw some of those games at Carthage. In both games that Arlington came to the front, when they played Milroy in an overtime period and won 26 to 21 and then took Moscow in the final game by two points, 33 to 31, a person couldn't expect to see any finer basketball. Rush county fans will have another opportunity to see these teams play again January 30 and 31 in the big tourney to be here.

Probably the biggest disappointed bunch at the tourney, was the Blue Birds of Carthage, but of course it wouldn't be nice to win on your own floor, so they surrendered early to the Sir Walters of Raleigh.

There was a big crowd on hand, and good sportsmanship prevailed at all times. The tourney was a success in every detail.

ALL TOURNEY TEAM

Hittin' 'em made a selection of an all tourney team, picked from the actual performance of the player at the tourney: Thompson, Moscow, forward; Readle, Arlington, forward; Kinnett, Milroy, forward; Alexander, Moscow, center; Newkirk, Raleigh, center; Tetrick, Carthage, guard; Readmond, Milroy, guard; Bundy, Arlington, guard.

So much for the tourney. You should have been there.

The Bull dogs of Columbus sure have a big bunkering after one point victory. They defeated Shelbyville Friday by one point, and on Saturday did the same thing against Evansville. They also have lost several games by one point, one in particular that we recall.

Rushville seems to like overtime games. Three of 'em so far this season, and two of 'em proved fatal.

Columbus and Rushville ought to make some resolutions to get those ideas out of their minds.

HOW ABOUT IT, GREENSBURG

All county seat teams in the tourney at Connersville will miss Shelbyville, because they all had hopes of beating them.

THEY ALL NEEDED ONE

Dear Hittin' 'em: I'll bet the boy whose Dad whips him after each game, if he doesn't play good—got one sound spanking Friday night. MARIE Markin' 'em of Newcastle fugged the Trojans on his tip-toes Saturday night, and we don't blame him much. They trimmed Richmond 24 to 21, and no telling what the score would have been if Rozelle wasn't sick.

Let's see, wasn't it Richmond that defeated the Lions Friday night? Sure, it was, and it looks like those Trojans have about 5 points the best of the argument. Anyway we will see for sure when the tourney is held at Connersville.

A team that is to be watched is Shortridge. Nine straight victories. They took Muncie Friday night, and then engaged in an all day tourney over at Brownsburg Saturday, and won it. They defeated Brownsburg 9 points, while the best Rushville could do against them was 5 points. So Shortridge is to be looked after.

WE'RE WAITIN' FOR THE BONES

Basketbawls of Washington says: Then Hittin' 'em reproduces a 'bawl' we used the other day which said that we did not understand how Rushville could maintain a Lyons Meat Market and still have a good team called the Lions. He says he thinks he deserves a good steak from the market for giving them the advertising, adding that he usually gets a roast. After reading the cold references above, we wired the Lyons market as follows: "Please present 'Hittin' 'em' with two pounds of spare ribs and see that they're well sandpapered. Send us the bill."

Washington—trounced Ritz of Evansville at Evansville Friday night 65 to 22, and on Saturday night the Evansville team downed Mt. Vernon 48 to 23. The Hatchets from Washington look powerful strong, and they have the same team next year.

Shelbyville also will enter the football business next fall, and the basketball season will not begin until later. In speaking of the grid game, Short Passes of that city says:

Rushville is one of the high schools planning to put a football team in the field next season, and as a result they do not plan to play basketball until December first or later. Do you remember in the dim past when Shelbyville and Rushville high school football teams clashed? There was no lacking for excitement and action in those days.

One thing about football, no team can have alibis for small floors, low ceilings and the like.

With the announcement that scores will be broadcasted each Friday night from Kansas City, Basketbawls of Washington says:

"We hope Passaic tunes in on Kansas City Friday night and listens to the scores for a time, just like for Mr. Blood's boys to get better acquainted with Indiana teams, you know."

And then he adds further that if Washington doesn't win a game, he hopes static will prevail. Reports from Rushville radio fans is that static is a daily thing here, and even Sunday sermons can't be heard.

Don't forget that Hagerstown plays them Friday night. While one of the "weak sisters" on our schedule, they shouldn't be fooled with.

Takes Over Yankee Stadium

By FRANK GETTY (U. P. Staff Correspondent) New York, Jan. 12—Tex Rickard is going to promote boxing at the Yankee Stadium this summer and the big attraction will be Jack Dempsey defending his title against Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, who stood up to the heavyweight champion for 15 rounds at Shelby a couple of years ago. Rickard, unquestionably the leading promoter the boxing game has known, has been negotiating with Colonel Ruppert, owner of the New York American League club and stadium, and will succeed Jimmy Johnston as matchmaker at the desired location.

The Yankee Stadium is the best in Manhattan for outdoor bouts, and when the season rolls around its mammoth capacities will combine with Rickard's genius for the benefit of followers of fistiana.

Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns his manager, both have expressed a willingness to give Gibbons a return match. They contend that the champion was not in condition when he fought Tommy at Shelby, and that another match will demonstrate conclusively that Dempsey is master of the St. Paul wizard.

Another match which Rickard will promote during the coming outdoor season, provided he can make Dempsey and Kearns live up to promises they finally have made him, is one between the champion and Harry Wills. The bout, which Tex is confident of being able to bring about, would be staged over in Jersey City.

Dempsey always says he is anxious to meet Wills, and then Kearns pops up with some good reason why various proposition for such a match are unsatisfactory. This time it seems as though the prospects are good for the bout being held. "Boyle's Thirty Acres" should hold its capacity crowd when Jack and Harry clamber through the ropes.

As a matter of fact, Dempsey, unless his Kleig eyes, fancy new nose and writer's cramp have permanently disabled him, should have little trouble with "Mistah" Wills. The black looked foolish against Bartley Madden. Of course, Madden makes a lot of them look that way, but a good man, Jack Renault, for instance, was able to stop him. Wills couldn't. Harry won a decision from Luis Angel Firpo, but the Argentine cheese had gone decidedly moldy by that time, as evidenced by the lacing he took from Charley Weinert a short time afterwards.

The Dempsey-Gibbons bout should be a good one, with odds on the champion. The Dempsey that beat Firpo one summer's night in 1923 would annihilate Gibbons. Whether that Dempsey can be resuscitated from the morass of the movies is a question. Gibbons showed well against Kid Norfolk recently, albeit the "Kid" isn't such a tough customer for a really good big man.

On the fistie horizon at the moment there is but one other whom Dempsey has expressed a desire to meet, and this figure at present has its back to the ring and its eyes on the lives of fair and gallant ladies in sunny France. Luis Firpo, of course, is out hallyhooning and press agency to work him back into a position of challenger for the heavyweight title.

There was some smoke, but very little fire, about Jack Renault, but it is not probable that he will meet Dempsey this year.

The Gibbons bout looks to be the best bet. Dempsey fights are more dependent on locations than opponents, anyhow, which is why the news that Rickard has succeeded in getting a line on the Yankee Stadium for 1925 is much more important than any announcement concerning possible matches.

Report of Blanche Merry State Superintendent, Raises Standards in Indiana

CITIZENSHIP IS RAISED

Pupils of the State Are Now Eighth Grades Instead of Dropping Out at Fourth Grade

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 2—"We now have an eighth grade citizenship instead of a fourth grade citizenship as a result of the 1921 attendance law in Indiana during the past three years," said Dr. Henry Noble Sherwood, new State Superintendent of Public Instruction in reviewing the annual report made by Miss Blanche Merry, State Attendance Officer.

Heretofore the children of Indiana have stopped school on average at the conclusion of the fourth grade; now they do not stop until they have completed the eighth grade, figures show. "This clearly indicates that our citizenship standard has been raised from the fourth to the eighth grade," Dr. Sherwood says.

"Statistics for the past five years show that there has been a steady increase in the percentage of school enrollment until in 1923-24, 98.4 per cent of all the children in Indiana were enrolled in our schools and along with this increase in enrollment there has been a noticed reduction in the amount of irregular attendance of those enrolled," the State Superintendent said.

Other results of the 1921 attendance law is outlined by Dr. Sherwood in an interview were: a better class of local attendance officers of the state; a more accurate checking on all the children of the state has been made; truancy in rural districts is passing away; the school officials are engaged in a reorganization of the systems to meet the needs of all the children; and Indiana is being freed from illiteracy.

Dr. Sherwood is opposed to the consolidation of the attendance department with the probation department because, he says "Attendance is fundamentally a part of school organization and deals with the legitimate right of every child to have educational training. Probation is specifically concerned with crime and criminals. Children are not criminals and should not be allied with the agency of the courts such as the probation officer."

"The work of Miss Merry during the past year deserves much commendation. Few persons realize the problems she has faced in enforcing the attendance law but in spite of these perplexing situations, she has succeeded in securing an almost one hundred percent school attendance," the State Superintendent said. He also praised the local attendance officers of the state for the splendid cooperation given the state office.

Bebe Daniels at Princess

Her millions brought fine clothes, travel, adventure, excitement. But they played a sorry trick on love.

Thus Bebe Daniels finds herself as Adele Clark in her new Paramount picture, "Dangerous Money," coming to the Princess theatre here today to remain two days, with everything that is, except love, for Tim Sullivan is only a hard working contracting engineer and—well, remember—how you used to say to yourself, "Gee, but I wish someone would only leave me a million dollars, then I'd be the happiest person going!" But you wouldn't. Anyway, Bebe Daniels wasn't and a trip down to the Princess will show you why—when the old bankroll comes in the front door love goes out the back.

"Dangerous Money" is Bebe Daniels' first Paramount starring production. Tom Moore, as Tim Sullivan, has the leading man's role opposite the star. William Powell is the scheming Prince Arnolfo da Percia who weds the beautiful Bebe through trickery. Mary Roy is Bebe's aunt, keeper of a boarding house where Adele (Bebe), before she falls into the million that is, toils daily in the kitchen. Dolores Cassinelli, Charles Slattery, Peter Lang and Edward O'Connor complete the cast.

Frank Tuttle directed the picture which was adapted to the screen by Julie Herne from the story by John Russell, which is based on Robert Herrick's novel, "Clark's Field."

See what you think of Bebe in a story all her own!

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 65c. Jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.
